Timing of Filing of Annual Report on Form 20-F for the Year ended December 31, 2019

Gridsum Holding Inc. (the “Company”) is furnishing this current report on Form 6-K in reliance upon the order issued by the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) on March 25, 2020 providing conditional relief to public companies that are unable to meet a filing deadline as a result of the novel coronavirus (“COVID-19”) outbreak (Release No. 34-88465) (the “Order”) to delay the filing of its annual report on Form 20-F for the year ended December 31, 2019 (the “Annual Report”) due to circumstances related to COVID-19.

Following the outbreak of COVID-19 and the ensuing pandemic, many cities in China were under severe travel restrictions, quarantines and business closures. From January 2020 to February 2020, the Company temporarily closed all of its corporate offices and requested all employees to work remotely. Although the pandemic has been contained to a certain extent in China since March 2020, the Chinese government continued to enforce travel restrictions and quarantines in certain major cities. The Municipal Government of Beijing, where the Company is headquartered, imposed a 14-day quarantine requirement on any person traveling to Beijing from other areas in China other than several neighboring provinces. Currently, people traveling to Beijing continue to face 14-day quarantine or are required to show advance test results. Due to business closures and restrictions on access to the Company’s corporate facilities, the Company’s finance team experienced significant delays in completing the financial statements and collecting materials necessary for audit. The travel restrictions and quarantines further impeded the Company’s auditor from performing required field work as originally scheduled. These, in turn, have hampered the Company’s ability to file the Annual Report by the original due date of April 30, 2020. The Company expects, in reliance on the Order, to file the Annual Report with the SEC no later than June 14, 2020, which is 45 days after the original due date.

Additional Risk Factor

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Company expects to include a risk factor in its Annual Report substantially similar to the following (updated as necessary):

The COVID-19 outbreak could significantly disrupt our operations and adversely affect our results of operations.

Since December 2019, China has experienced an outbreak of COVID-19, a disease caused by a novel and highly contagious form of coronavirus. The severity of the outbreak in certain provinces resulted in travel restrictions, quarantines and business closures imposed by local governments across China and materially affected general commercial activities in China. In response to this outbreak, from January 2020 to February 2020, we temporarily closed all of our corporate offices and requested all employees to work remotely. The travel restrictions and quarantines also prevented our sales, customer service and other personnel from visiting customers and business partners, making it more difficult for us to carry out marketing and other business activities and promote our products and solutions. The outbreak of COVID-19 has caused and may continue to cause significant slowdown of economic growth in China and globally, which may lead to reduced demand for our products and solutions. Furthermore, the slowdown of economic growth adversely affects the stability of, and investors’ confidence in, the financial market, making it more difficult for us to raise additional capital necessary for our continued operation. Any of the foregoing could have a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations, financial condition, cash flows and liquidity.

We are unable to predict the duration and severity of the spread of COVID-19, as they depend on rapidly evolving developments, which are highly uncertain and involve factors beyond our control, such as the continued spread or recurrence of contagion, the implementation and effectiveness of preventative and containment measures, the development of medical solutions, and public and market reactions to the foregoing. Any similar future outbreak of a contagious disease, other adverse public health developments in China or in other countries, or the measures taken by the governments of China or other countries in response to a future outbreak of a contagious disease may restrict economic activities in affected regions, resulting in traveling restrictions, quarantines, temporary business closures and reduced demand, or otherwise disrupt our business operations and adversely affect results of operations.

Forward-Looking Statements

This current report on Form 6-K contains forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are made under the “safe harbor” provisions of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.
